

FREE Technical Open Day

Thursday 17th May 2007, Hotel du Vin, Winchester

Drop in and let us help you solve your waterproofing problems!

RIW's Waterproofing Experts will be hosting a free technical open day at the beautiful Hotel du Vin, Winchester to give guidance to local architects and engineers in identifying common problems associated with waterproofing today's structures and how to avoid them.

Waterproofing at or Below Ground Level: Design Considerations & Guidance

Our 60-minute Technical Seminar will be presented during three sessions throughout the day. The seminar gives an introduction to BS8102 (Code of Practice for the protection of structures against water from the ground) outlining the critical design considerations that influence the form of construction and material selection. This includes guidance on the most commonly used waterproofing materials, including reference to strengths and weaknesses of the systems, together with application methods and advice on surface preparation.

The seminar is of a highly technical nature, and will be followed by a Question & Answer session.

Alternatively, please drop in at any time between 10am and 4pm for a one-to-one project-specific consultation, and to join us for a coffee!
